Online course on non-tariff measures and data collection 12 August to 27 September 2019

The UNCTAD secretariat is pleased to inform the Permanent Missions of member States in Geneva that the Division on International Trade and Commodities of UNCTAD will organize the sixth edition of its online course on non-tariff measures and data collection from 12 August to 27 September 2019.

The course will be offered in English (see attached prospectus for details).

The objective of this hands-on technical course is to increase participants' understanding of transparency in non-tariff measures and of the collection of data concerning such measures. It targets two specialized audiences:

- Data collectors directly working with non-tariff measures.
- Government officials, researchers, and representatives of the private sector who wish to strengthen their understanding of non-tariff measures, use data concerning such measures, and/or who are or may be involved in the design or negotiation of policies related to such measures.

Thanks to the support of the Trade Analysis Branch of UNCTAD, the selected participants will be exempt from the fees associated with access to the course and the e-tutoring services provided.

Interested candidates should apply by following the instructions available at <https://www.research.net/r/NTMData2019>. The deadline for application is 28 July 2019 (23.59 Geneva time).

Requests for further information about the course or assistance with the online application process should be sent to the following address:

Ms. Chi-Le NGO, Trade Analysis Branch, Division on International Trade and Commodities, UNCTAD; email: ntm.training@unctad.org.
