

Health Sciences Research Group

We are an innovative, multidisciplinary team in Austria offering a comprehensive portfolio of methods and techniques in the field of health sciences research. We provide experience in evaluations (health outcomes as well as economic effects), health care planning, health technology assessment, statistics and systematic reviews.

Our services in the area of evaluation (clinical outcomes, quality of life and economic effects) include establishing research questions, the development of individualised evaluation concepts and study designs, the management and analysis of large and complex datasets (routine and study data), triangulation of quantitative and qualitative data, statistical analyses, interpretations and recommendations.

As part of health care planning, we undertake need assessments and assess current service provision and potential for improvement. We use best available expertise as well as latest evidence-based strategies and focus on the scale-up of interventions to achieve innovative solutions for healthcare and to realize translation from research to real-life-settings.

We conduct health economic analyses (cost-minimisation, cost-effectiveness and cost-utility analyses) as well as budget impact analyses and burden of illness studies. In addition we carry out systematic reviews and meta-analyses concerning effectiveness and, with this wide spectrum of methods and services, are well placed to conduct HTAs. This includes systematic literature searches and reviews of safety and effectiveness, as well as cost assessments and analyses of ethical and social factors (including gender and cultural aspects).

Our institute is QM certified (EN ISO 9001, EN ISO 13485, GLP – Good Laboratory Practice).
